Automation Of Operations

Off-shift operations include some of the most boring, repetitive, and error-prone tasks of an IT organization. The benefit of an automated system is that these functions are reliably executed by the automation software, relieving operations personnel from hours of tedious, boring and manual tasks. Our solutions are a better and more intelligent approach to cost containment and reduction. The greatest opportunity is to increase service to the customer while systematically reducing costs. Management often overlooks this potential for savings.

Most modern servers have a low operating cost and the total cost of ownership has been declining. Even so, the cost of the operations staff can be as high as 71% of the total cost.

IT Resource Contracting

Ensuring availability of skills and resources at the right time can cause unnecessary pain for a lot of IT, HR and recruiting managers, especially with the current focus on keeping permanent headcount to a minimum. If there is a shortage of skilled resources available, critical projects and services are at risk. The solution is Flexible Resourcing, which focuses on finding the right people to fill resource gaps for our Partners, their customers and other progressive organizations. It is a cost-effective way of ensuring access to multiple skill sets over a short period and adds competence and capability to projects and services. Contact us today to know more about this.
